

Winning Grants for Library Media Programs

or

Spinning Straw

Into Gold

Librarian to Librarian Networking Summit

Why librarians make great grant writers:

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

An effective grant proposal tells a story, beginning with the problem and ending with the solution.

Like other stories, a grant proposal relies upon the skillful use of words and illustrations to communicate with the reader.

SETTING

Once upon a time...

There once was a ...

Long ago, in a galaxy
far, far away...

Part 1: Needs Assessment, Need for Project, Community Assessment

Where to find Information

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

PLOT

Part 2: Project Description, Project Design, Goals and Objectives

OF INK

COLOR

Seek and rectify all:

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

CHARACTERS

Part 4: Management

THE BOTTOM LINE

Part 3: Evaluation

Part 5: Budget

Would you give a million bucks to a guy who looked like a bum?

CAUTION

In other words...

Be careful what you wish for,

Grant Newsletters

RFP Bulletin:

<http://foundationcenter.org/newsletters/>

Federal Notifier:

http://www07.grants.gov/applicants/email_subscription.jsp

Sources of grant money for libraries

[Redacted content]

[Redacted content]

[Redacted content]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]