Free Newsletters from School Library Journal -

Timely industry news, and insightful resources for working with students and educators delivered straight to your email inbox.

SLJTeen provides librarians and educators with the latest news on books, graphic novels, anime, music, and games for teens, as well as monthly interviews of debut YA authors. Reviews by teens are offered regularly, along with technology for the classroom and library, as well as teen consumer information.

Curriculum Connections reviews the latest books and other materials for children and young adults and links these materials to the curriculum. Also included are interviews and thematic articles and authoritative advice on the titles a library or classroom needs to help keep children and teens reading and learning.
