

Subject: Library Responsibility for Theses and Dissertations Produced at ECU

Title: ECU Theses and Dissertations

Operational Procedure - Date Adopted by the EHRA Assembly: March 29, 1990

Date Revised: April 7, 2011; September 12, 2019

Joyner Library has responsibility for maintaining an archival copy of all East Carolina University theses and dissertations received by Joyner Library.

Between Spring 2010 - Spring 2019, copies of theses and dissertations were received in both electronic and microfiche form. Microfiche copies are available for use only within Special Collections. Since Spring 2019, only electronic copies are received. Electronic copies are stored in the university's institutional repository, and made available to users, subject to the distribution options selected by the author.

For some theses and dissertations published prior to the mandatory transition to electronic format in Spring 2010, Joyner Library retains circulating print copies in the general collections in addition to print copies in the University Archives. Damaged circulating print copies are not automatically replaced. Additional print copies of some of these pre-2010 items are also retained and managed by the Music Library and by Laupus Health Sciences Library.
